VELOCIPEDE PATENTS

In the United States Circuit Court, yesterday, the suit of W. Smith agt. Calvin Witty was heard. The plaintiff charged that the defendant had infringed on his patents for improvements in velocipedes, and prayed that an injunction be granted. He avered that Philip W. McKenzie of Jersey City had obtained at various times three patents for improvements in velocipedes, each for 17 years, and had sold the same to him; that he (Smith) had, at great trouble and expense, been manufacturing, for sale, velocipedes made under said patents, and that he will realize large gains therefrom if infringements are prevented; that various parties in different parts of the United States have acknowledged the validity of his (Smith's) claim to said patents, and have taken heense thereunder, but that Witty has continually, in violation of his (Smith's) rights, made and sold velocipedes containing the improvements patented as above stated, and that he is still doing so. Smith further says that despite due notice on his part, Witty has refused to desist from infringing these patents. He therefore prays that Witty may be enjoined from continuing these alleged infringements; that he may be compelled to pay him (Smith) the profits he has acquired and the damages he (Smith) has sustained by such alleged infringements, and that Witty be compelled to make a discovery of how many velocipedes infringing, as alleged, his (Smith's) patents he has made, and how many he has sold. A motion for Witty to show cause why the redress asked should not be obtained will be made and argued within a few days. plaintiff charged that the defendant had infringed on and argued within a few days.

REMARKS.—With 1,134 fresh and 164 stale cattle at Communipaw, 607 at West End, and 68 at One-handredth-st., or 1,972 is all, on sale this morning, against 2,850 last Monday, it is not surprising that prices are {c. } n above the rates of that day. The total of 4,768 beeves for the week rates of that day. The total of 4,705 beeves for the week is nearly 1,300 less than for the previous week. After the close of a hard market last Monday, there were 1,831 head, including nearly 200 from Monday, offering at One-hundredth-st. on Wednesday, in a moderately fair market, in which all were sold, though at unsatisfactory prices to owners. After this butchers could hardly be induced to purchase anything, and the market at Communipaw on Friday, with $71 head on sale, was a hard one. The only inducements which butchers would listen prices to owners. After this butchers could hardly be induced to purchase anything, and the market at Communipaw on Friday, with $71 head on sale, was a hard one. The only inducements which butchers would listen to were to kneck off $e. from the rates of Monday, and then they did not buy freely. The best stock was sold at 16c. though it was not extra, but good 7½ cwt. Illinois steers. Now, however, the tide has turned strongly in favor of owners, and a pleasant smile lights up the visage of the Western drover, only he regrets not having more stock. and is a little fearful that these reports will reach the West ahead of him, and that others besides himself will rush in some droves for next week. Of course everything was sold off, and the market was decidedly strong, prices rather working up toward the close. The show of buyers was large at Communipaw, and there was a sharp composition among them, very little stock holding until noon. Some fine flat cattle were on sale, for the tops of which 17½c, was paid, while a good many reached 17c. The prices were fully ic, better than on Friday, exemplified by the fact that some 6½ cwt, steers sold at $7 per head above the saking price of last Friday. The demand was not fully supplied, and the first droves coming forward will sell well. Drovers will maturally expect a good market at One-hundredth-st. on Wednesday. The quality of the stock at West End was only fair, but all was sold rather below the prices obtained at Communipaw, competition not being as brisk. Still it was evident that owners were making a fair commission on their stock. Simultaneous with the advance in cattle, we have a rise in multon, so that butchers cannot substitute the latter for the former.

fat, at 16c, MILCH COWS.-Notwithstanding the great falling off MILCH COWS.—Notwithstanding the great failing off in numbers, the cow market has been very slow during the week, most of the stock sent in being common. For the majority of the cows sold $602$50 have been obtained, with some at $50, two at $105 cach, and others between. Still really choice milkers would bring $1102$115. Too many poor little cows are sent here for sale. The advance in beef will probably help the fresh cow trade during the coming week.

VEAL CALVES.—There is a falling off in receipts, said to be owing to the bad state of the roads in the country, though it is probable that many persons are holding on to their calves until they are older. So many seizures are made of "small yeal," as soon as it is seen dressed, that butchers and dealers can hardly be induced to buy "bob" calves, even alive, as it involves the necessity of killing them on the siy at night, and selling them secretly. Stringent orders have recently been issued regarding "small yeal"—looking not only to confiscation of the calves, but arrest and prosecution of those in whose hands they are found. Commission men are now refusing to receive bob calves for sale. Live calves are selling readily, if good, at 1242 lic., and 134c. for some of the pick. Few go below no ilc., as those not wenth that are not quotable. Hogderssed calves are selling at 12217c., and even 18c for some extra line calves. These prices are expected to give way soon.
